

Radical abundance

a theology of sustainability
January 21-23, 2009

Gustavus Adolphus College

Partner site for the 39th National Theological Conference
January 21-23, 2009

Explore sustainability through the lens of liberation theology, and the vision of Christians working together toward social justice by considering all people as full partners in healing our planet and our communities, regardless of their social or economic status. Only in striving for sustainable relationships, rather than accumulating and consuming more for ourselves, can we discover true abundance.

Our local gathering offers the full three-day conference experience, with keynotes live via webcast from New York, and interfaith discussion small groups to consider radical ideas about abundance, sustainability, and well being.

Cost: $20 per person. Includes printed materials and refreshments. Meals not included. Limited space is available for overnight accommodations at $20 per night per person. Advanced registration is necessary.

REGISTRATION DEADLINE: January 16, 2009
